Cost of flood may put sewer district in hole

By Dave Gosnell

GRANITE CITY — Bills have come due for the Metro East Sanitary District to pay on the Oct. 4 East St. Louis flood.

The result of paying those bills could be a cutback in the MESD workforce and operations in the next 90 days, said executive director Shang Greathouse.

"WE COULD HAVE a problem at the end of February," Greathouse said at a Dec. 18 MESD meeting.

The first set of bills shows $167,400 in flood-related costs. Of that figure, bills from Union Electric Co. totaled $91,200 and a bill from Keeley Bros. Contracting, of East St. Louis, totaled $52,233.

Keeley Contracting was called on during the flood to build and place temporary steel floodwalls when a flood gate at the MESD East St. Louis pump station gave way.

Flooding many sections of the city. KEELEY'S services included the use of a large crane and crew.

The $167,400 represents MESD bills for about three weeks following the flood, Greathouse said.

Greathouse expects the total direct cost of the flood to be about $700,000, including another bill from Keeley for about $70,000.

Greathouse said additional flood-related costs will be known when pump station damage estimates are known. He said a complete investigation of the damages cannot be made until the water level goes down at the station.

MESD HAS only about $500,000 left in its operating budget, Greathouse said. MESD would normally have about $1 million at this time to pay its employees and operate the district until the fiscal year ends in June, he said.

Greathouse said that three months in the spring, usually a more flood-

Controversial gate to be inspected

By Dave Gosnell

Staff writer

GRANITE CITY — An inspection of a broken Metro East Sanitary District sluice gate at its East St. Louis pump station is likely to be made "in the next three or four days," said MESD executive director Shang Greathouse.

Greathouse said water levels will probably recede enough to allow an inspection of the area where an MESD flood gate gave way to rising river waters on Oct. 4. The failure caused extensive flooding, and there is still four feet of water at the site. "We can't get a man in there yet. It's a little dangerous," Greathouse said.

An inspection is considered crucial to determine what caused the gate to break. Two lawsuits on behalf of East St. Louis residents against MESD have resulted from the flood. The suits claim MESD was negligent in not repairing the gate when the district was informed that repairs were needed.

About 1,200 East St. Louis residents were evacuated from the city during the flood and the high water caused millions of dollars of property damage.

The U.S. Army Corps of Engineers and the MESD will each inspect the gate, said Greathouse.

The corps is expected to offer a separate inspection report.

Greathouse has claimed the broken gate did not malfunction as a result of MESD negligence. He says the gate simply gave way under water pressure.

The Corps of Engineers district office in St. Louis issued a 1985 report to the MESD indicating that repairs to gates at the pump station were needed.

Whatever the cause, Greathouse has estimated $1.8 million is needed to repair the pump station and MESD does not have the money.

So far, no government agency has provided the money for the repairs. Gov. James Thompson recently vetoed a $1 million repair measure.

East St. Louis residents and officials, St. Clair County officials and Greathouse have all cited a need to repair the pump station before expected high water levels in the spring.

An assistant to St. Clair County Board Chairman Jerry Costello, Terry Beach, said on Wednesday that help was still possible from the federal Housing and Urban Development Department.

"It's still alive," Beach said of a $1.8 million aid request. "I think there is still a good chance."

Beach said HUD officials have not indicated when they will make a decision on the request.

He said he may be forced this spring to lay off a number of employees.

"You have a choice of cutting back, or sitting here going broke," he said. "We are getting into the money we reserve for payroll."

Greathouse said he must pay the (See COST, Page 7A)

1986 reviewed in Sunday's edition

Hopes and dreams for a bright, sparkling new year are high on everyone's list as 1987 begins. What the next 12 months will actually bring is anyone's guess.

But a collage of events occurring in 1986 may help predict some issues the local community will be facing in the coming year.

A review of the past year in the Quad-City Area, as recorded in the pages of the Press-Record/Journal, will be published in this Sunday's edition.

Redmond named 'Personality of the Year'

Dr. Max Redmond

By Jack C. Ventimiglia

Executive editor

GRANITE CITY — Those who liked him liked him a lot, and those who didn't were glad to see him go, but whatever views are held about the former District-9 superintendent of schools, Dr. Max Redmond far and away had more influence on the lives of area residents in 1986 than did any other local person.

From January through the summer, and even by the fall after he'd left the district, Redmond was a topic of conversation among the public, the School Board and the newspaper. Hundreds attended functions in his honor, he was public-

Annexation could be on ballot in April

By Bill Bagby

Staff writer

GRANITE CITY — Two unincorporated areas could be annexed in the April election. The City Council read two annexation ordinances Dec. 23, one dealing with Wilshire Manor, Steelecrest, Gorge, and Town & Country subdivisions, and the other includes Bellemore Place, Miracle Manor, Evergreen, and Greater Granite Heights subdivisions.

THE ORDINANCES will be on the Jan. 6 agenda. If passed as expected, city officials will file with the circuit court Jan. 7 to place the question on the April 7 ballot, said Alan Ortals, director of economic development.

The court will examine the ordinances and legal descriptions of the areas and hold a public hearing before determining if it will allow the question on the ballot, Ortals said.

Petitions to put the proposed annexations on the ballot were withdrawn in September due to boundary questions.

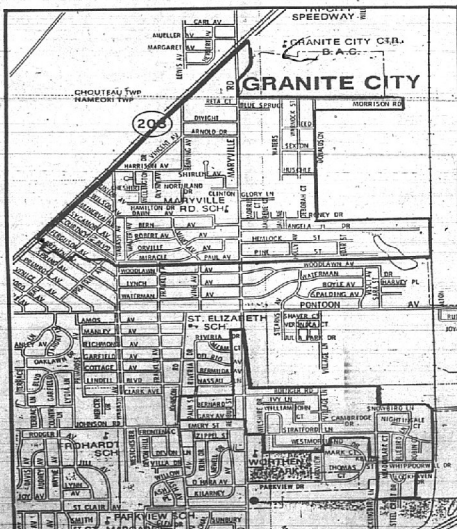

ALL REGISTERED voters in the proposed annexation areas can vote on the issue, he said.

If they vote for annexation, they will become part of both Granite City and Granite City Township, said Nameoki Township attorney Irv Slate.

The annexation, Ortals said, would be a boost to the area as well as the city.

"As Granite City goes, so will the area," he said. "If we're on the move it's to the benefit of everybody."

MAYOR VON DEE CRUSE said he is willing to hold public meetings with residents in the proposed areas to discuss the plan and answer questions.

ANNEXATION OF TWO unincorporated areas into Granite City and Granite City Township could be decided on the April 7 ballot. The top area includes the Bellemore Place, Miracle Manor, Evergreen, and Greater Granite Heights subdivisions. The bottom area includes the Wilshire Manor, Steelecrest, Gorge, and Town & Country subdivisions.

Townships could retain annexed areas

By Bill Bagby

Staff writer

GRANITE CITY — Nameoki and Chouteau townships could keep part of their territory, though voters in portions of those townships may vote to join Granite City and Granite City Township.

Under the coterminous township annexation law, signed in August by Gov. James Thompson, Nameoki and Chouteau officials can demand a referendum of all registered voters in their townships if they disagree with the annexation of portions of their township by Granite City Township.

IF a referendum is not sought on the annexations, or if the people vote to allow the annexation into Granite City Township, Nameoki, and Chouteau would receive property taxes from the annexed area for 10 years, said Nameoki Township attorney Irv Slate. Taxes would be collected at the rate paid for the last year prior to the annexation, he said. The difference in any increase in taxes would be collected by Granite City Township.

If voters decide to keep the areas in their township, residents would pay township property taxes to either Nameoki or Chouteau, and corporate taxes to Granite City, said Alan Ortals, director of economic development. They would not pay taxes to Granite City Township, he said.

Ortals said he will not know until after the election if the townships might take any action.

JOAN ORAM with part of her collection of teapots.

Antique teapots include great variety of designs

By Deborah L. Williams

Joan Oram, a processing technician in St. Elizabeth Medical Center's Medical Records Department, has been featured in Hot Tea, a bi-monthly national newsletter for teapot collectors. She has been an avid collector of teapots and other antiques most of her life.

"I collect milkglass and creamers as well as teapots," said Oram. "I'm just an antique buff. I've been collecting things all my life. A lot of the items, I've had since I was a kid."

Oram has teapots of all shapes, sizes and colors.

"I used to drink tea all the time," she said, "and I liked the variety of styles teapots come in, so I started collecting them."

Oram finds most of her treasures at local antique shows and flea markets, which she tries to visit at least two or three times a month. Her favorite place to look is at a monthly flea market held at the St. Clair County Fairgrounds in Belleville.

"I've paid from 25 cents to $20 for a teapot," said Oram, "but the price really depends on where you purchase it and the condition of the teapot itself."

The most unusual item is a triangular-shaped, English floral teapot which only holds one cup of tea and is well over 50 years old.

"Supposedly, tea was very hard to come by in England many years ago, and this particular pot only required a pinch of tea."

"I have a square one, about 50 years old, which you almost have to be told it's a teapot because of its unusual shape."

"I also collect children's toy tea services."

The oldest teapot in Oram's collection is one that is of a child's face. It is 75 to 100 years old.

"I've seen the complete tea set of this particular one at the Eugene Field House, but I only have the teapot."

She displays her collection in wall-to-wall display cabinets in her home. With over 150 teapots in her collection, it is clear that collecting is Oram's "cup of tea."

Public works director too costly

Mayor Von Dee Cruse's administration needs to draw the line against further hirings and expenditures, starting with the public works director.

A $35,000 salary is offered for the job — a job designed to "meet today's need for more efficient and economical operation" of the city, according to the mayor. Adding to the payroll contradicts the purpose.

Efficiency and economy are ideal goals, but the payroll is a main city expense and economizing should start there. Candidate Cruse said he would deal with the city's payroll through attrition, but after 18 months in office, Mayor Cruse's administration has seen the city's monthly payroll rise from $177,091 when he took office in May 1985 to $232,166 today, a $55,075 increase. In the same period, the number of employees increased by 14, from 251 to 265.

Concerning efficiency, the public works director would work with several departments, but each of those departments has a supervisor. The expense of a sort of "supervisor for the supervisors" doesn't seem justified in view of the apocalyptic picture of the city's financial future painted by Comptroller Joe Miklovic when the council debated removing the utility tax. The picture was so awful that Alderman Brett Hanke, who first indicated opposition to the tax, voted to keep it.

Surely Hanke, who has since applied to be public works director, realizes that $35,000 is a good salary. It's peculiar that he is reportedly asking for more.

If a public works director is appointed, it won't be surprising to see — after a suitable number of months — the creation of a complete "public works department," including a couple of secretaries and an assistant.

A public works director, we editorialized, was worth consideration. But after considering the cost, the city should shake do with what it has.

What it needs is money for sewer repairs, street work and cleaning blighted areas. What it doesn't need is another payroll increase.

'87 goal: No longer non-profit

National Steel in the 1980s became a "non-profit" company, but not intentionally.

The problem has been a continuing drop in worldwide steel prices. As 1987 dawns, there is the hope and need for the company to return to profitability — this year.

In a series of meetings with Granite City Steel employees, GCS Vice President and General Manager William Swanson has stressed investors' vital role in steelmaking's future — and the necessity to earn bankers' and investors' confidence by performing with high efficiency and productivity.

National Steel President Kokichi Hagiwara said here Dec. 4, "National has the potential to become a world-class steel producer. Today's dedication of our new ladle metallurgy station is one more step toward fulfilling that goal."

Masaharu Ito, vice president of technology, said that, with such facilities as the new ladle station in Granite City, "we can assure our customers not only the exact chemical composition they need, but exceptionally clean steel, too; with a sulfur content as low as is possible anywhere in the world today."

Jointly owned by National Intergroup of Pittsburgh and Nippon Kokan of Japan, National Steel is implementing an aggressive, five-year, $1.2 billion capital expenditure program.

Its strategy also involves balanced facilities configuration, labor-management teamwork and ingenuity, and improved quality. There is an American determination to attain high standards quickly; Granite City Steel also has the traditional Japanese determination to foster steady improvement and progress.

Although the company is steadfast in its plans, continued financial losses obviously would affect future equipment purchases and the scope and size of the steel operations.

A slight profit in National Steel operations was being generated in the early part of 1986's fourth quarter, but this was partly due to a strike at USX (U.S. Steel). After it is back to full production, USX may resort to a new wave of price-cutting.

The road ahead in 1987 contains many potential pitfalls, but if all at Granite City Steel and other National Steel plants want it badly enough, success is within reach. This is not a time for generalized New Year's resolutions, but for a specific objective — profit. There must be a steady resolve to make better times a reality. The best security for all is an outstanding product, made and sold at a profit. Anything less is not world-class.

In this Super Bowl month, thoughts go back to the first victorious Super Bowl coach, Vince Lombardi, and his attitude toward winning. It can be done, by those who have a can-do outlook.

'86 comeuppance for evaders

A carrot-and-stick approach by the Illinois Department of Revenue moved fully into its second and final phase in 1986.

For all who pay their taxes, this was a positive development; it isn't right for conscientious taxpayers to have to shoulder others' responsibilities as well as their own.

The carrot portion was a tax amnesty in which delinquent bills could be admitted and paid without penalty or prosecution. The three-month grace period proved so successful and lucrative in Illinois that amnesty was proposed also for federal taxes; Congress has not yet seen fit to authorize it, however.

Any amnesty program must have a time limit, and the one in Illinois was followed by tougher enforcement, including fines and the imposition of levies.

Levies in this context involve action against the wages, bank accounts, stocks and bonds of those who owe state taxes and won't pay up.

Leaning over backward to be fair, the state gives a taxpayer a few "last chances" to pay voluntarily and then issues a final warning letter. If the letter is disregarded for 10 days, the "last resort" is resorted to — seizure of financial resources, including part of each new paycheck.

In the first full fiscal year of the levy program, 2,500 delinquent accounts were cleared up and the amount repaid exceeded $1 million.

In addition, the existence of levy procedures prompted many others to pay.

Voluntary compliance is the best answer, and to achieve it or a close simulation of it, a bit of stick-wielding proved mighty helpful. The policy will continue in 1987.

Available health insurance is enacted

To the editor:
A measure guaranteeing basic medical insurance to certain high-risk citizens was passed by the Illinois House and Senate.

People with a history of serious medical problems are often unable to obtain the basic health care coverage the rest of us take for granted.

The Comprehensive Health Insurance Plan Act (CHIP) offers these people a chance to purchase health care insurance they might otherwise not be able to get. The plan is limited to persons who can demonstrate that they have been rejected for health care insurance, or that they have been forced to get insurance at a rate higher than that offered by the CHIP program.

Twenty-two percent of all personal bankruptcies in Illinois are due to medical costs. I believe it is the duty of the State of Illinois to protect citizens who, through no fault of their own, are placed on the brink of financial disaster by medical costs because of their inability to find health care insurance. The CHIP program does just that.

Most of the money needed for the program will come from premiums paid by the participants, with any deficit being made up by the state. Eleven other states currently have CHIP-type programs on the books, and several others are considering similar measures.

STATE REP. SAM WOLF

Protection from violence is limited

To the editor:
The police have never and probably never will protect people from violent crimes. This comes as a shock to the past three generations of Americans.

1. Citizens who have been misled into believing that the government provides all the protection we will ever need from violent offenders.

2. Citizens who have long since abdicated all of their responsibility for personal protection and crime prevention and control to the government in the form of police agencies.

3. Citizens who cannot be made to understand that, in a free and democratic society, one can never be afforded such protection by a government.

Only in police states can such protection be provided. In a police state, one need not fear that the criminal might possess a gun, since guns remain in the hands of government officials only.

Can police agencies, representing our government protect the individual from violent crime? Consider the following facts: the police population of the United States is around 550,000. The population of the United States is around 230,000,000.

At a time when law enforcement recognizes the need for citizens to help themselves and the police, citizens support congressmen and legislation which removes the only means by which one can protect himself from the violent offender — the firearm.

If a citizen cannot be trusted with this constitutional right to protect himself, then why should a police officer have such a right, other than when on duty?

Gasoline tax increase idea opposed

To the editor:
Gov. James Thompson has cited a need for an increase in the Illinois motor fuel tax to repair and construct roads and bridges.

But while making such a claim, Thompson does not take into account that Illinois also applies a 6 percent state sales tax on top of the motor fuel tax, giving Illinois motorists the fourth highest tax bill when they fill up with gasoline at the pump. And if they use diesel fuel in their car or truck, the tax is 2.5 cents higher, giving them the highest tax burden in the nation.

That's not all. Many Illinois counties and cities place additional taxes on motor fuel.

In DuPage, Lake and Cook counties, where a majority of Illinois gasoline is sold, a tax to subsidize the Regional Transportation Authority is added to the other taxes. An additional tax is collected by Cook County. And in Chicago, the combination of the RTA tax and additional city taxes push the tax bill of a gallon of gas up another 11 cents, making motor fuels purchased in Chicago the most heavily taxed in the nation.

In fact, nearly half the cost of a gallon of regular unleaded in Chicago is made up of taxes of local, state and federal governments.

While the Thompson administration pushes for additional motor fuel taxes as the only conceivable means of funding road and bridge repairs and construction, millions of dollars generated under the present tax are diverted by the state for other non-road uses.

Of total road funds spending of $1.532 billion in fiscal year 1986, $895 million was used for actual highway construction and another $134 million was expended for debt service on existing bonds.

PLANTAR FASCIITIS

A common arch pain may be diagnosed as plantar fasciitis, inflammation of the broad, strong band of tissue on the bottom of the foot. Biomechanical foot problems, high or low arch, excessive weightbearing, or inadequate shock absorption when jogging can cause the fascia to stretch.

Pain is gradual at the outset. It can be incapacitating to someone who stands for long periods. Sudden foot twisting, shoes with poor support and excessive pronation can increase strain, thereby worsening pain. Podiatric treatment includes prescribed orthotics or heel cups. Medication cools inflammation. Prescribed exercises strengthen the muscles supporting the arch and stretch those that produce undue stress.

Happy New Year!

John 13:35 ... "For by this shall all men know you are my disciples, that you have love one for another."

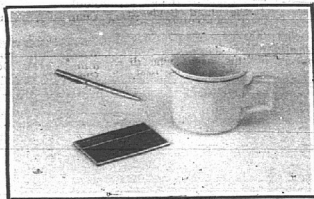

Today the world is starved for love. Everyone is so busy. We do not have time for one another. We pass on the street and never see each other. Our eyes never meet. We try with everything within us to avoid one another. There is a coldness and a distant feeling between people.

Why is this? People are without God and His spirit. The Scripture says, "God is love." If we could just open our hearts and let the love of Jesus come in, what a difference it would make. He would replace the coldness with warmth, the sadness with joy, and the tears with laughter. The Word says, "A merry heart worketh good like medicine." The only way to have a merry heart is to have the love that only God can give. It is so simple. Just ask God to come into your heart. What changes, what a flood of love will come over you. See what a different direction your life will take. Try Him today.

Suggestions sought on zoning changes

GRANITE CITY — Suggestions on improving the city's zoning ordinance are being sought by the plan commission. Granite City attorney Phillip Theis, commission chairman, said the commission is working on amendments to the ordinance. He is seeking ideas from interested persons on improvements or changes in the ordinance.

Theis said the ordinance is restrictive to commercial development. The revisions are being made, he said, to "promote development."

When the ordinance was passed five years ago, Theis said, there was little public input.

The commission will meet at 7 p.m. Jan. 8 at City Hall. Suggestions should be put in writing and presented to the commission before then, he said.

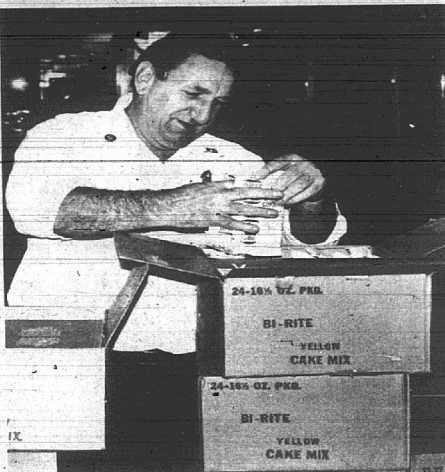

This recently replaced Chris Louis as chairman of the commission. Louis resigned because he is being transferred to Cleveland.

Redmond

Former superintendent 'Personality of Year' ly lambasted by board members and lauded by the newspaper — some of it covered by members of the St. Louis media.

The controversial superintendent's attitude that he should appoint those he thought best for school district jobs, rather than agreeing to appoint some persons who seemed to be favored due to what appeared to be patronage politics, caused Redmond to run afoul of School Board members while simultaneously endeavoring him to many educators and members of the public.

The dispute between Redmond and the board dominated headlines in the hometown newspaper, particularly in May, June and July, when the newspaper strongly advocated a position favoring Redmond to the outrage of several board members.

Redmond left the district in July, choosing to take a job in a community where he felt his administrative knowledge would better serve education, and much to the relief of those School Board members who considered themselves to be unfairly hounded by members of the public and media.

Redmond is gone, but his legacy to the district remains in the form of heightened awareness of patronage hirings and a resolve to guard against the practice through questioning by the public, by the newspaper and through action at the polls.

Township

Annexations could be on April ballot

visior Harry Briggs Sr. said he wasn't aware the city was trying to get the annexation question on the ballot.

"I know they're been thinking about it, but I didn't know they're that serious," he said.

Briggs said he would examine the legal descriptions of the areas and seek advice from township attorneys before any possible action is taken.

Cost

MESD could go into hole on repairs

bills now in order to document flood costs to the Federal Emergency Management Agency.

MESD received a $131,000 check from FEMA Dec. 26. Greathouse said all FEMA assistance must be used to defray costs directly attributable to an emergency.

THE $131,000 represents part of the $351,000 MESD requested from FEMA immediately following the flood.

Under the FEMA assistance formula, FEMA will pick up 75 percent of the request and the state must pay 12 1/2 percent of the request. MESD must "swallow" 12 1/2 percent, or about $44,000, Greathouse said.

FEMA is expected to come through with the rest of the emergency money, but Greathouse said it will not be enough.

Out of the $311,000, there was $100,000 in electric bills alone," he said.

ILLINOIS GOV. James Thompson recently vetoed a bill that would give $1 million for the repair of the MESD pump station in East St. Louis.

Repairs to the pump station have been estimated to cost about $1 million. None of the FEMA money can be used for the repairs.

Greathouse said he has submitted requests for money to six government agencies.

"I have no commitment from anybody beyond the $351,000," he said.

Funeral services

Area deaths reported in this week's Sunday and Wednesday's newspapers include:

Just like old times: Venice wins tourney

Hall scores 35 and gets MVP

By Dave Whaley
Staff writer

FREEBURG — For those longing for a return to normalcy, Tuesday night should have been a comforting experience.

The Venice Red Devils used to always win the Freeburg/Columbia Holiday Tournament, and Jesse Hall used to always dominate games he played in.

The Devils won nine of the first 11 tournaments from 1965-1975. But they had only won it twice in the past 10 years. Hall usually dazzles the crowd with his usual breathtaking performance. But he had been held to a combined 26 points in the Devils' previous two wins as he battled the flu.

That was all taken care of Tuesday as Venice, behind a 35-point performance from Hall, took top honors in the Freeburg Holiday Tournament with a 69-60 win over Lebanon in a game that wasn't nearly as close as the score would indicate.

Hall's take-charge performance in the title game earned him tournament MVP honors for the second year in a row.

"I just felt like performing tonight," said Hall, who said he wasn't surprised at getting the MVP. "Lebanon's a good, competitive team."

But they couldn't compete with the Devils in this game. Venice got revenge for a heartbreaking loss in last year's championship game of the Columbia Holiday Tournament, when Ronald Vann hit a jump shot with four seconds left for a 75-74 win.

"I didn't elaborate on last year too much," said Red Devil coach Clinton Harris. "That was a game we should have won. We had a mixup on defense that let them get the last basket. But Jesse, Vipcent (Harris) and Dale (Turner) remembered what happened."

But there would be no last-minute heroics this year from Vann, who fouled out in the final minutes with 15 points. And although the final score made it seem rather close, the Devils were in charge from the middle of the second quarter on. Lebanon did close it to 11 points, 54-43, early in the fourth, but Hall got the next eight points, including a slam dunk and a tremendous finger roll.

"You can't really say we lost this game by nine," said Greyhound coach John Schieppe. "They surprised us with their outside shooting, and we haven't seen that much quickness since we played Madison. But we've played them twice now, and I hope to see them again in the regional."

Schieppe's son, Steve, who had sparked Lebanon with a pair of 30-point performances earlier in the tournament, had 20 points against Venice, but 16 of those came in the second half — mop-up time.

"Schieppe wasn't hitting in the first half, which was an advantage for us," Harris said. "We wanted him shooting from outside. We didn't want him to drive and get near the basket."

The Devils started out by jumping to a 6-0 lead in the first minute of the game, but Lebanon got the next seven points to take its only lead. Hall got the next seven points in a physical first quarter that featured some heavy collisions between Hall, Vann and Richard Weber.

"I thought there were some calls that might have been made on both sides," Schieppe said. "But I won't ever quarrel with that as long as it's not getting out of hand."

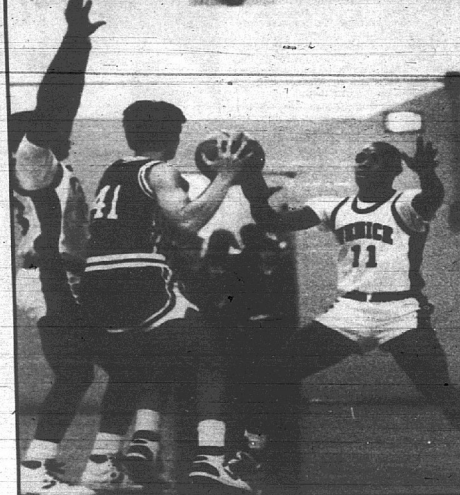

Wilfred Wigfall (who was also named to the all-tournament team) and Darryl Jackson got hot as the first half drew to a close, and they helped the Devils open up a 40-23 lead at the intermission.

Lebanon managed to stay close in the third quarter, but Hall's slam of an alley-oop pass from Harris made it a 50-37 game after three quarters. Jackson helped in the defensive effort with a pair of blocked shots.

"We played real well in the first half," Harris said. "We were good in the second half, too, but not as good as the first. Our man-to-man defense was pretty tough. You can't play a zone against Lebanon, because they have some good outside shooters."

Turner and Richard were cold tonight, and so was Steve Peters to an extent, Schieppe said. "We're not used to having all-

Warriors battle back, but fall to Spartans in 2 OTs

By Gregg Ochoa

Executive Sports Editor

COLLINSVILLE — The Warriors learned a painful lesson at the Collinsville/Schmucks Holiday Classic, but it's one that may turn out to be more valuable later on.

Granite City found out the hard way that things aren't always easy the second time around. The Warriors lost their second game in two days here, dropping an 81-79 decision in double overtime to Springfield Southeast in the consolation championship.

Lincoln (Ill.) won the title for the second straight year, beating East St. Louis Lincoln 55-47.

After losing in the first round, the Warriors beat Jerseyville and Collinsville in the loser's bracket, but could not shake the pesky Spartans. Granite City (8-4) is idle until Jan. 9.

The tournament was like a roller coaster ride for the Warriors. Some bright spots:

• Eric Ryterski, hampered with a blistered foot, played two solid games against Jerseyville and Collinsville, scoring 16 points and pulling down 20 rebounds.

• Granite City's 58-48 win over Collinsville was the team's sixth straight over the Kahoks the past two seasons. In that game, four Warriors scored in double figures.

• The Warriors appeared to play with much more intensity after the loss to Springfield Griffin. They ran on offense and hustled on defense.

• There were times when we showed flashes of what we are capable of doing and there were other times when we didn't play with our heads," said Warrior coach Don Deterding.

Inconsistency plagued Granite City throughout the four games. The Warriors were either hot or cold. They looked sharp or they seemed flat.

"At times we got frustrated, and the harder we would play the more things wouldn't work," Deterding said. "It's not growing pains, because we are an experienced team. It's just something we are going to have to fight through."

The Warriors perhaps played their best against Collinsville on Wednesday.

Granite City was in command the entire game. The Warriors opened up a 13-point lead (26-13) in the second quarter and were never headed.

Collinsville trimmed the gap to four late in the game, but Tom Taylor canned a pair of free throws and Greg Lilley broke free for a layup to put the game out of reach.

"This was one of our better games," Deterding said. "We had some lulls, but we did what we had to do. We accepted the challenge.

We played smart." Taylor led all scorers with 17 points. Tim Hogan added 15. Jamie Hogan and Ryterski each scored 10 points. The Warriors shot 47.7 (35 percent) from the floor.

The Kahoks connected on just 48 percent of their shots (21-of-43) and had just one player, Brad

GC wrestlers fall short of title

GRANITE CITY — All things considered, it could have been worse and it should have been worse.

The wrestling Warriors fell short of their goal of winning their second straight Holiday Tournament.

Bloomington ran away with their first team title with 200½ points. Granite City was second with 176 points. Rounding out the top five finishers were Cahokia (166), Belleville East (150½), Hazelwood Central (148) and McCluer North (134).

The Raiders advanced six wrestlers into either championship or third place bouts. Bloomington wrestlers won individual titles at 112 and 126 pounds, while taking second at 119, 145 and 165 pounds. The Raiders also grabbed a fourth place finish at 132 pounds.

Granite City coach Walt Whitaker was pleased with his team's effort, despite the fact the Warriors surrendered a 13½-point lead after the first day.

"In this type of tournament there are no slouches," Whitaker said. "Everyone you wrestle is tough. You are glad if you finish in the top five or six."

What hurt the Warriors is that they advanced only two wrestlers — 167-pounder Paul Brandt and heavyweight Ross Karbarski — in to championship bouts.

Brandt lost his second bout of the tournament to McCluer's Steve Blanner, 10-0 in the title match. Blanner finished second at 155 pounds last year.

Karbarski lost to McCluer's Elgin Carnes 9-5 in his championship match.

Whitaker said his team might have fared better had he not had to juggle the lineup.

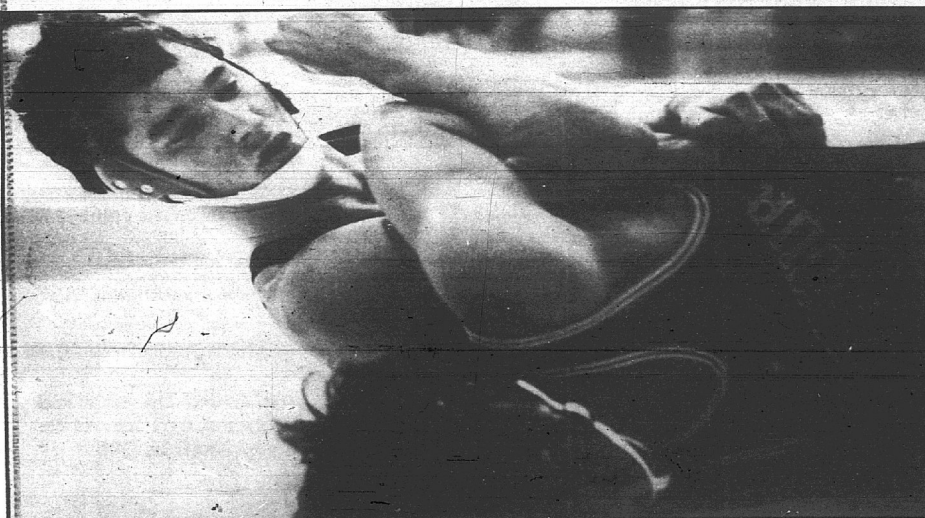

"Our 112-pounder, Bill Fitzgerald, went to Florida to visit his mother and couldn't get back in time for the weigh-in," Whitaker said. "That might have cost us 13 or 14 points right off the bat."

Riverview Gardens' James Powell pulled off the biggest upset in the tournament, as he beat Eric Roberson of Roxana in the 438-pound championship match, 9-7. The loss was Roberson's first of the year.

Other area wrestlers winning titles were Bethalto's Ken Howell (98), Belleville East's Jim Arendell (119), Cahokia's Bryant Clark (132), Bethalto's Jim Dearduff (145), Greg Reed of Cahokia (155) and Rick Barrett of Belleville East (185).

In the 167-pound title bout, McCluer's Steve Blanner breezed past Brandt, 16-0. The defeat was

Skaters suffer tough loss to DeSmet

By Dave Whaley
Staff writer

ST. LOUIS — The hockey Warriors' eight-game winning streak came to an end with a tough 5-4 loss to DeSmet Monday night.

The Warriors skated toe-to-toe with the Spartans — six-time league champions — but a fluke goal in the third period proved to be Granite City's downfall.

"We accidentally kicked in the winning goal," said coach Garry Henson. "They were on the power play, and they dumped the puck into our zone, then their guy just centered the puck. They had no one in front, but Todd Hinterser and Collins (Harlan) both went for the puck. It clanged around a little, then went in."

The goal ruined what was otherwise a great third period performance by the Warriors, who battled back from a 4-2 deficit on a shorthanded goal by Joey Edwards and Tommy Brown's second goal of the game.

"Brown was just fantastic," Henson said. "That line of Brown, Rich Grogan and Todd Richey played an outstanding game. They're three little guys, but they can really cause some trouble. If they play like that the rest of the year, we won't lose too many."

Because of the absence of Garry Henson Jr. and Matt Krekovich, the Warriors were playing with essentially only two lines. And they found themselves trailing after the first period, 3-1.

"All three of their goals were caused by mistakes on our part," Henson said. "On the first one, we didn't cover the point man, then we made a bad pass that let them break in, then some indecision in going for the puck led to their third goal."

Lee Schreiber had the Warriors' only goal of the period, assisted by Hinterser. Hinterser and Edwards assisted on Brown's first goal five minutes into the second period, but DeSmet answered with a goal late in the period.

But after Granite City tied it with two goals in the first three minutes of the third period, they had the momentum.

"I told them if they can't win to play for a tie," Henson said. "After the winning goal, the Warriors had some chances to tie the game again.

"We had the game tied with about 2:40 left, but their goalie made an unconscious save," Henson said. "Schreiber and (Matt) Schneke broke in, and Zee blasted a shot. The goalie had his arms spread, and the puck just went right into his glove. That was our best chance."

The Warriors played CBC last night and will face McCluer North tonight. They are back home for a Monday night game against Cahokia, with the faceoff at 8:30. Last Friday, the Warriors took a 6-4 decision from Webster Groves, although Henson said they did not play that well. Granite City had a 3-1 lead, then fell behind 4-3 at the end of two periods. But Schreiber, Jeff Cooper and Schneke scored third period goals.

three of them having trouble shooting. But Vann played a real good game tonight. I guess the adrenaline starts pumping when you play a team like Venice."

NOTES: The Devils shot 56 percent (31 of 55) from the floor and were 7 of 12 from the line. Lebanon was 27 of 64 (42 percent) and 6 of 9. Other members of the all-tournament team were Davis Hillis of Carrollton, T.J. Matthews of Columbia, Jeff Rowold of New Athens, Rick Stierwalt of Gillespie, Mike Farmer of Southwestern Plaza, Bob Biehl of Freeburg, Dan Worley of Waterloo, Steve Wightman of Gibault, and Weber and Schieppe of Lebanon. Columbia took third place with a 52-50 win over Gibault. Piassa took fifth with a 56-53 win over Carrollton, and New Athens took the consolation title with a 62-56 win over Waterloo. The Devils, winners of 10 in a row and sporting an 11-1 record, next play at Vashon Tuesday in a rematch of last year's game, where Hall's last-second basket gave Venice the win. It was the Wolverines' only loss of the year as they rolled to a Missouri state championship.

Brandt's second of the year, with both of his losses coming to Blanner in the tournament.

"He was just too strong," Brandt would say later. "He had that one move — the cradle — that he just has down to an art. I just couldn't really stop it."

Despite dropping his final match, Karbanski would have been a shoo-in for another type of medal — the Purple Heart.

In his final match of the first day of competition, the Warrior heavyweight's kneecap pounded out of place, leaving the wounded joint to agonize Karbanski for the remainder of the tournament.

Three of Karbanski's matches had to be stopped for the kneecap to be put back in its proper place, yet he managed to win both of his preliminary matches before falling to Carnes.

"I got up to come back for the final session, and when I got up it felt like someone had hit me with a baseball bat at the knees," the heavyweight said. "I was really hurtin' all day. And on top of that, I think my nose got broke today, too."

Although his condition wasn't nearly as serious, Granite City's Todd Hutchison also skinned his knee in his fifth place match, suffering a technical fall loss to Danny Dunn of McClellan North 3:56 in their match.

Brent Davis continued to struggle in the 105 division, as he was defeated by a 16-4 decision by Hazelwood Central's Mark Russell in their third place duel. Davis managed to win only three of his six tournament matches.

Rich Wilson also fell in his third place match, dropping a tough 4-2 verdict to Carbondale's John Talbot.

Tracy Morrison racked up his fourth tournament win against two defeats with a 5-4 win over Bloomington's Jim Lee in their third place match.

Wrestling in his first varsity tournament ever, Warrior 145-pounder Jim Stout fell in his fifth place match against Belleville East's Fred Echols, 4-3.

Whitaker said Stout's advancing to the second day of competition was a big plus for the team as well as the erstwhile junior jayvee grappler.

"I was really pleased with the job Stout did for us," Whitaker said. "He had never wrestled varsity before, and he helped us to score a few points that we weren't expecting to get from him."

"We've been weak at 145 all year, and I think once we get that division all settled it'll help to solidify our lineup."

Dave Knogl solidified his spot as a potential sleeper in the metro east area during the tournament, as he rapped off four straight wins before dropping an 11-0 decision to eventual champion Greg Reed of Cahokia. Knogl would also drop his third place match against McCluer's Jeff Morris, 6-3.

Mike Lynch managed to repeat his winning ways over Cahokia's Jack Brooks, as he downed the Comanche 185-pounder, 7-3, in their fifth place match. Lynch handed Brooks a 5-4 defeat in Monday's preliminary rounds.

Songs of past DAR program

Members of Drusilla Andrews Chapter of the National Society of the Daughters of the American Revolution met in the home of the regent, Mrs. Sandra Wilkinson, for a Christmas brunch.

Mrs. Barbara Williams shared the state regent's Christmas message and Miss Joyce Taff presented a national defense report on the early warning system.

Miss Taff noted that a group of exiled Russian scientists has urged the U.S. to continue with its strategic defense system, since the USSR will continue working on its system no matter what this country does.

Mrs. Williams discussed safety in the home at Christmas, including the hazards of candles and lights. Members showed ornaments from past years.

A program called "Songs of Hope from Our Nation's Past" was presented by Mrs. Williams and Mrs. Linda Koenig. This musical history program traced songs from the landing of the Pilgrims through the Revolutionary War.

The group completed the program by singing Christmas carols. Mrs. Jane Vansler reminded members of the "Good Citizen" dinner in January, when three area high school students will be honored.

Also attending were Mrs. Florence Simpson, Mrs. Emma Schoen, Miss Mae McCormick, Miss Millie McCormick, Mrs. Marie Reinhardt and guests, Dallas Harrell and Steven Harrell, the latter a Drusilla Andrews Chapter scholarship recipient.

Preceptor Beta gives food, toys

Preceptor Beta Gamma Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi held a Christmas party at Randy's Restaurant in Troy. Members exchanged secret gifts and the men exchanged gag gifts.

President Barbara Hente conducted a business meeting to review January activities.

Judy Broshow, service chairman, reported on food baskets given to two area families and a basket taken to the Animal Protective Association. Mrs. Broshow attended Operation Lift-Off and took toys donated by the chapter.

Also attending were Norman Henta, Jim Broshow, Mr. and Mrs. C.J. Jones, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Koenig, Mrs. Betty Beck, Miss Marilyn Lumpkins, Mrs. Roberta Crawford and Vickie Barth.

THE LAW AND YOU

BY RICK REED
Attorney At Law

The question often arises as to whether a wife can agree to accept a reduced amount of child support from that awarded in the judgment of dissolution. Frequently a situation occurs where the husband is ordered to pay a particular amount in the divorce decree, and he subsequently begins paying less because he fails on hard times. If he can get his ex-wife to agree to these lesser payments, does that relieve him of the responsibility for the arrearage that develops? This question was answered in a 1980 case.

In this case, the couple was divorced, and the wife was awarded custody of the children. The husband was ordered to pay $550 per month in child support. The husband paid for a while, but then he started paying only $250 per month. Shortly after that, he even stopped paying the $250. Finally an arrearage developed of over $11,000.

The ex-wife in this case went to Court seeking payment of the arrearage. The husband responded that there was an agreement between the former wife and himself to reduce the support, and that was the reason why he had not paid the full $550 per month as originally ordered. The mother of the children contended that there was no agreement, and that the father of the children usually told her what he was going to pay, and that she could take it or leave it.

The Court in this case first noted that one party in a divorce cannot take it upon himself to reduce child support payments. The Court cited numerous cases which stood for the proposition that modification of an existing child support order usually must be accomplished by the paying spouse returning to Court to seek a reduction. However, this Court did conclude that in certain circumstances, an arrearage could be reduced by agreement of the parties.

In this case, the Court found nothing to indicate such an agreement. The mother here had kept a diary of the arrearages, showing a monthly amount of $550 being due. The Court noted that there was conflicting testimony, and it viewed the former wife's testimony as slightly more believable. From the findings in this case and later cases, it is apparent that agreements are going to be examined very closely by the Courts, and only in rare situations will agreements to reduce support be found to exist.

ALCOHOL & STILL BIRTH

Even moderate drinking during pregnancy greatly increases the risk of stillbirth, report separate medical researchers in New York and California. Pregnant women who drink even small, non-intoxicating amount of alcohol twice or more each week, have about a 30% chance of aborting. As drinking more than 1 oz. of alcohol (1 can of beer, 1 glass of wine, or 1 small cocktail) more often than once a week can be so very toxic to the fetus, it is wise to avoid alcohol entirely during pregnancy.

Q. I was recently approached by phone to make a "great" investment with promises of high returns, etc. I declined but was wondering if you could give me some clues as to what to watch for on a "good" investment or a "bad" one. I didn't feel I had enough information and I didn't know the caller.

A. You were right to decline a high-pressure sales pitch for investing your hard-earned money. Always be wary of any stranger offering guaranteed profits, little or no risk, a "special" deal that is being offered to only a select few, an opportunity to make lots of money, but only if you invest immediately, and, of course, the promise that you can't lose. The general rule if you are solicited by phone or by a stranger is to say no. If you have funds you would like to invest, consult an advisor with a good reputation. One of our bank officers would be happy to steer you in the right direction.

Miss Rinehart, on vacation from her interior design business, was here these days visiting friends and relatives.

The Colberts also had Mrs. Colbert's brother-in-law and sister, Mrs. and Mrs. Rick (Judy) Cooper, Olathe, Kan., as weekend guests. The Coopers were here visiting friends and relatives while on a school holiday. Mrs. Cooper is a teacher in Olathe.

Mr. and Mrs. Ferd (Sally) Segar were guests in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Duniphan, 633 Chouteau Ave. The Segars came to see the Christmas lamp display.

Mrs. Carmen Breckner, 533 English Place, had her son and family, Capt. and Mrs. Harvey (Debbie) Breckner and sons, Matthew and Ryan, home for the holidays. Capt. Breckner is stationed at Whiteman Air Force Base, Knob Noster, Mo., a missile base near Sedalia, where he is a dentist in the Air Force.

The Breckners also visited Debbie's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Grady, 2727 Sunset Drive. They attended the soccer alumni banquet at the Croatian Home in Madison. Gene Baker, soccer coach at Granite City High School, was the speaker of the evening.

He remembered the late Audell "Harry" Breckner, Harry's father, and made mention of his accomplishments with the youth of the area, not only in soccer but in other sports. Mr. Breckner was active in Mitchell Athletic Club sponsorship of teams for boys and girls.

Mr. Breckner, who died in September 1986, was instrumental in acquiring and developing the Mitchell Athletic soccer field, Baker said.

Mrs. Carmen Breckner's brother, Anthony Carrizales, a former Mitchell resident and also a former soccer coach, now living in Corpus Christi, Texas, is a guest in the Breckner home.

Mrs. Flora Raymond, 624 Chouteau Ave., hosted a birthday party for her daughter, Peggy Raymond, Sunday afternoon. A barbecue dinner followed, with ice cream and cake served to Mr. and Mrs. Tommy (Catherine) Donaldson and their grandson, Tommy III, and Mrs. Lester (Theresa) Morgan and Mr. and Mrs. C.G. (Shirley) Pasley. Mrs. Donaldson, Mrs. Morgan and Mrs. Pasley are the honoree's sisters.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack (Lucy) Colbert, 645 Chouteau Ave., were host to Mrs. Colbert's mother and brother over the holidays.

Mrs. Lillian Carver, Puxico, Mo., and Jerry Carver, Dexter, Mo., arrived Christmas Eve.

Mrs. Colbert and Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Duniphan accompanied Mrs. Carver to her home Friday. On Sunday, all eight of her children joined her at her home in Puxico for a gift exchange and a traditional holiday dinner.

In attendance were Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Duniphan, Mitchell, Mrs. Lucille Colbert, Granite City, Mrs. Ruth Payne, Kinder, Mo., Mr. and Mrs. Eugene and Nadine Carver, McGee, Mo., Mrs. Eula Beck, St. Louis, Mrs. Ada Coburn and son, David, Compton, Springfield, Ill., Mr. and Mrs. Earl (Ruth) Carver and son, Kent, Wappapello, Mo., and Jerry Carver, Dexter, Mo. Mrs. Carver is a former area resident.

Mr. and Mrs. Jim (Theresa) Kelly and daughters, Christine and Jennifer, hosted family members at a holiday brunch in their home Christmas morning. The home was decorated and gifts were opened around a traditional early American Christmas tree.

Brunch was served to Mrs. Kelly's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jack (Lucy) Colbert, her brother and family, Mr. and Mrs. Tom (Nancy) Colbert and daughters, Shelley and Wendy, and her sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Jeff (Missy) Hickam.

Mrs. Penny Dummit, a former resident of Mitchell, is announcing the birth of a girl Dec. 26 at Anderson Hospital, Maryville. The baby has been named Jena Rachelle and she weighed 7 pounds. She has a sister, Jamie Dummit.

Mrs. Dummit will be remembered as the former Miss Penny Rinehart.

First child arrives for Mr., Mrs. Bush

6,806 call Illinois helpline; eye physicians treat blinding diseases

Potentially blinding eye disease can be treated effectively if detected early, a fact that 6,806 elderly Illinois residents have discovered through the National Eye Care Project (NECP).

Volunteer Illinois ophthalmologists have uncovered:

- 972 cases of cataracts
- 210 cases of glaucoma
- 210 cases of macular degeneration
- 40 cases of diabetic retinopathy

These cases relate to elderly Illinois residents who have called the toll-free Helpline - 1-800-222-EYES (2337) - to receive assistance through the NECP.

The public service, which offers medical eye care to the disadvantaged elderly at no out-of-pocket cost, is sponsored by the Illinois Association of Ophthalmology and the Foundation of the American Academy of Ophthalmology.

The NECP is available to U.S. citizens or legal residents, age 65 or over, who are not currently under the care of an ophthalmologist, and who have never seen one within the past three years.

Since the Illinois Helpline opened on April 14, 1986, 6,806 residents have called, resulting in more than 4,762 referrals of elderly patients to local volunteer eye physicians for medical examination and possible treatment for sight-threatening eye diseases.

More than 140,000 elderly

Americans have telephoned 1-800-222-EYES since the national project opened in January. About 34 percent of those examined by ophthalmologists report they had never before had a comprehensive medical eye exam. For another 20 percent, it had been more than five years since their last eye examination.

"We want elderly people to know that failing eyesight in their later years can be prevented or lessened through early diagnosis and treatment," said Merrill Greenberger, M.D., president of the Illinois Association of Ophthalmology. "We are now able to repair or even replace certain parts of the eye by using sophisticated surgical tools and important new drug therapies." Periodic medical eye exams are particularly important, said Dr. Greenberger, to detect potentially blinding eye disease, such as glaucoma, which has no early warning signs. Nationwide, about 1,600 cases of glaucoma have been diagnosed and treated through the project.

After calling the toll-free Helpline, an elderly person will be mailed the name of a volunteer ophthalmologist who will treat the patient, regardless of his or her ability to pay, and who will accept (for this project) Medicare or insurance assignment as payment in full. If hospital care is needed, the ophthalmologist will work with a local hospital to make care available. Hospital charges, eyeglasses and prescription drugs are not paid through the program. More than 7,000 ophthalmologists are participating in the NECP. The Helpline is open weekdays from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. in all states except Hawaii, where the hours are 8 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Prime family time goal in OB visits

To provide fathers, grandparents and siblings an opportunity to visit new mothers and their babies, SEMC's OB Unit is implementing changes in the visiting policy.

"These new visiting hours have been established to provide time for family unity and the safety of our mothers and babies," said Pat Schrader, obstetrics supervisor, "but everyone's cooperation is needed to make it work smoothly."

"Everyone is so excited about new babies that they tend to run over us like a storm. The number of visitors to the OB floor can easily get out of hand. Their excitement is easily understood, but it doesn't allow enough time for the mother and baby to get to know each other. "The OB Unit's new rule that has suffered the most abuse is 'only two visitors per patient in the room at any one time.' Although that rule still holds, it has been altered slightly to meet the needs of the family."

From 2:30 p.m. to 3:30 p.m., only the father and the grandparents may be in the room with the mother and the baby.

From 6 p.m. to 7 p.m., only two visitors will be allowed in the patient's room, including friends of the family. However, no children will be allowed in the mother's room during this hour.

From 7 p.m. to 8 p.m., the father, grandparents, and the baby's sibil-ings (brothers and sisters) may visit.

"We have gowns with storks on the front which say, 'I'm a sibling,' for the brothers and sisters to wear while they are holding the baby, after they've washed their hands," said Schrader. "The response we've gotten from the sibling gowns and the brothers and sisters being allowed to be in the room with the baby has been very positive."

"We've also eliminated the use of surgical hails and masks for the fathers while they are holding their babies. Research has shown there was no need for that procedure, and that good handwashing techniques were adequate. However, if someone in the family has a bad cold or an infectious disease, we ask that they please stay home."

From 8 p.m. to 9 p.m. (the original Father's Hour), the father or the support person only will be allowed in the mother's room.

"These rule changes mean the baby is in the room with the mother from 7 p.m. to 9 p.m., allowing the father, grandparents, brothers and sisters time to visit during that two-hour period. However, from 8 to 9 it's fathers only. We are hoping the grandparents will take the other children home, so Mom, Dad and Baby can spend some time alone together."

Finding the right HMO easier said than done

By Janet Burnett

Home economics adviser How do you find a health maintenance organization (HMO) plan that's right for you?

It helps to think about the kind of medical care you want, need and have had in the past.

If you're accustomed to a long-standing and satisfactory relationship with your own personal physician, you may want to switch to an HMO where your doctor is under contract.

Before you make any final decisions, remember that each HMO is different. The quality varies widely from HMO to HMO. Each uses different doctors and hospitals, charges different premiums, covers different services, and has different administrative policies concerning emergency and out-of-town care.

There are two basic kinds of HMOs. The first is the group practice or staff model, which offers care in a clinic setting. The second is the individual practice association, in which the HMO contracts with private physicians who see patients in their offices.

Each model offers advantages and disadvantages. The clinic setting offers continuity — all your records are at one location, and it is likely that your office visit, lab work and prescriptions can be taken care of in the same building.

Individual-practice HMOs may be able to offer a wider selection of physicians and the private office setting that many patients prefer. Compare several HMOs before choosing one for yourself and your family. Read all of the literature thoroughly and be sure you know the answers to these questions:

- Where do I obtain specialist, hospital, skilled nursing facility and emergency care?
- How is emergency care defined?
- What coverage is available for family members living outside the service area?
- From among the HMO staff, can I choose my physician?
- What are the specialties of staff physicians? Are these specialties the kind that might be useful to me?
- Are routine office visits handled by physicians, nurse practitioners or physicians' assistants?
- Does the plan include full or partial reimbursement for prescription drugs?
- Where and under what circumstances can I get medical care when I travel?

A secondary — not often illuminating — source of information may be friends and associates who are already enrolled in the HMO you're considering.

You might ask them:

• Can you see physicians when you need to?

• If you require urgent care, can you get an appointment on short notice?

• Is the waiting period for routine check-ups reasonable?

• Are you treated courteously by all the staff?

• Would you recommend membership in your HMO to others? About 15 million Americans are enrolled in more than 340 HMOs across the nation, and the number is growing every day. In such a rapidly expanding field, there are bound to be differences in quality of care.

Before you sign on the dotted line, ask a representative of the HMO whether the organization meets federal standards and whether it belongs to the Group Health Association of America, a trade group that inspects members' facilities.

If you're unsure about the reputation of an HMO you're considering, the Illinois Department of Insurance will be able to tell you what complaints the agency has received about local HMOs. Consumers may write to IDI at 160 N. LaSalle St., Chicago 60601, or may phone the agency at 1-312-793-2427.

Inquiries about the HMO's financial health can be directed to the Division of Private Sector Initiatives, R. 17A55, Parklawn Building, 5600 Fishers Lane, Rockville, Md., 20857 (1-301-443-2778).

Finally, senior citizens can find out more about what HMOs have to offer them by writing to the American Association of Retired Persons (AARP), 1900 K Street NW, Washington, D.C., 20049. AARP offers a free booklet entitled, "More Health For Your Dollar: An Older Person's Guide to HMOs."
